Assistant Director for Intelligence
Coordination

Director of Training

Intermediate Intelligence Course (Scientific)

1. The completion of the third offering of subject course becomes an occasion for an expression of thanks and appreciation to those who have contributed to its successful development. The curriculum has been kept flexible in the interests of the requirements of each student group. Your presentation of the problems of intelligence coordination in Course No. 2 satisfied an expressed need of the students in that course.

2. The excellence of your discussion was attested by student interest and comment.
